What is the One-Stop Career Center Delivery System?

The District's One-Stop Career Centers are part of a national system that has combined local employment and training programs into one easily accessible center. Instead of going to several different locations to find a job, enroll in training, or apply for compensation benefits, a customer can receive several employment-related services by making just "one-stop."

Customers can file claims for unemployment compensation benefits only at Franklin Street, Naylor Road and South Capitol Street - CVS/pharmacy One-Stop Career Centers by appointment. Customers must call to make an appointment.

What types of services are offered at the One-Stop Career Centers?

All One-Stop Centers provide the following core services:

Dislocated Worker Training	Internet-Based Job Search Workshops
Occupational Skills Training	Job Search Assistance
Labor Market Information	Job Placement Assistance
Individual Career Counseling	Unemployment Compensation

Do the centers offer other specific training and services?

Yes. In addition to the core services, the South Capitol Street-CVS/pharmacy One-Stop Career Center offers the CVS/pharmacy apprenticeship program. This partnership allows DOES and CVS to train a large pool of employees through a state-of-the-art facility. The Business Resource Center (BRC) provides start-up and small business owners with resources to develop and expand entrepreneurial or small business operations. The BRC has partnered with the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) at Howard University and the North Capitol Neighborhood Development, Inc. to provide these services.

Can anyone use the centers?

All one-stop career centers are open to District of Columbia employers and residents who are at least 14 years of age, regardless of their income. Use of the centers by job seekers and employers is completely free.

Can services be accessed online?

Yes. You may access general information about the agency's services at its web site: www.does.dc.gov or www.dcnetworks.org.
